FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

DECEMBER 31, 2023

HILBORN^{LLP}

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Members of Friends of Canadian Broadcasting

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Friends of Canadian Broadcasting (the "Organization"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2023, and the statements of operations, net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Organization as at December 31, 2023, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

In common with many similar organizations, the Organization derives revenue from donations the completeness of which is not susceptible to satisfactory audit verification. Accordingly, verification of these revenues was limited to the amounts recognized in the records of the Organization. Therefore, we are not able to determine whether, as at and for the year ended December 31, 2023, any adjustments might be necessary to revenues and excess of revenues over expenses reported in the statement of operations and net assets, or assets and net assets reported in the balance sheet. This matter also caused us to qualify our audit opinion on the financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2022.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Organization in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the ability of the Organization to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Organization or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the Organization.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the internal control of the Organization.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Organization to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Organization to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended December 31, 2023

Nature of operations

Friends of Canadian Broadcasting (the "Organization"), operating as Friends of Canadian Media, was incorporated on August 25, 1987 as a not-for-profit organization. The mission of Friends of Canadian Broadcasting is to enhance the quality and quantity of Canadian programming in the audio-visual system. The Organization is exempt from income tax by virtue of Section 149 (1)(1) of the Income Tax Act.

1. Significant accounting policies

(a) Basis of accounting

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations and are in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. These financial statements have been prepared within the framework of the significant accounting policies summarized below.

(b) Fund accounting

The Organization maintains a general fund and a restricted fund. The balance sheet and statement of cash flows include all of these funds on a combined basis.

The General Fund accounts for the Organization's programs, advertising, and administrative services.

The Restricted Fund has been established to provide ongoing support based on restrictions provided by the donor. As at December 31, 2023, there are no restricted funds.

(c) Revenue recognition

The Organization follows the restricted fund method of accounting for contributions.

Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue of the General Fund in the period received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue of the appropriate restricted fund. Where an appropriate fund does not exist, restricted contributions are deferred and recognized when the contribution restrictions have been met.

(d) Short-term investments

The Organization accounts for short-term investments using the cost method, written down for any impairment in value. Short-term investments consist of guaranteed investment certificates that mature within twelve months of the year end.

1. Significant accounting policies (continued)

(e) Financial instruments

(i) Measurement of financial instruments

The Organization initially measures its financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value adjusted by, in the case of a financial instrument that will not be measured subsequently at fair value, the amount of transaction costs directly attributable to the instrument.

The Organization subsequently measures its financial assets and financial liabilities at amortized cost. Changes in fair value are recognized in the statement of operations.

Financial assets measured at amortized cost include short-term investments and accounts receivable.

Financial liabilities measured at amortized cost include accounts payable and accrued liabilities.

(ii) Impairment

Financial assets measured at amortized cost are tested for impairment when there are indicators of possible impairment. When a significant adverse change has occurred during the period in the expected timing or amount of future cash flows from the financial asset or group of assets, a write-down is recognized in net income. The write-down reflects the difference between the carrying amount and the higher of:

- the present value of the cash flows expected to be generated by the asset or group of assets; or
- the amount that could be realized by selling the assets or group of assets.
- the net realizable value of any collateral held to secure repayment of the assets or group of assets.

When events occurring after the impairment date confirm that a reversal is necessary, the reversal is recognized in the statement of income up to the amount of the previously recognized impairment.

(f) Contributed services

From time to time, volunteers contribute their time to assist the Organization in carrying out its daily activities. Because of the difficulty of determining fair value, contributed services are not recognized in the financial statements.

(g) Management estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. Financial instrument risk management

The Organization is exposed to various risks through its financial instruments. The following analysis provides a measure of the Organization's risk exposure and concentrations.

The financial instruments of the Organization and the nature of the risks to which it may be subject are as follows:

Financial instrument	Risks
	Credit	Liquidity	Market risk
Currency			Interest rate	Other price
Cash	X
Short-term investments	X			X
Accounts receivable	X
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities		X

Transactions in financial instruments may result in an entity assuming or transferring to another party one or more of the financial risks described below. The required disclosures provide information that assists users of financial statements in assessing the extent of risk related to financial instruments.

The Organization's financial instruments bear the following financial risks:

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a transaction will fail to discharge an obligation and cause the other party to incur a financial loss. The Organization reduces its exposure to the credit risk associated with cash by maintaining these funds with Canadian financial institutions. The Organization has accounts receivable of $111,813 (2022 - $123,540) which have been collected subsequent to year end.

Liquidity risk

The Organization does have a liquidity risk in accounts payable and accrued liabilities of $127,277 (2022 - $93,380). Liquidity risk is the risk that the Organization cannot repay its obligations when they become due to its creditors. The Organization reduces its exposure to liquidity risk by ensuring that it documents when authorized payments become due and has sufficient revenues before committing to expenses.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk is comprised of currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

i) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The functional currency of the Organization is the Canadian dollar and substantially all of its transactions are conducted in Canadian dollars. Accordingly, the Organization is not exposed to significant currency risk.

2. Financial instrument risk management (continued)

ii) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk refers to the risk that the fair value of financial instruments or future cash flows associated with the instruments will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. The Organization is not exposed to significant interest rate risk as it does not hold any significant interest bearing assets or liabilities.

iii) Other price risk

Other price risk refers to the risk that the fair value of financial instruments or future cash flows associated with the instruments will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from currency risk or interest rate risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual instrument or its issuer or factors affecting all similar instruments traded in the market. The Organization is not exposed to significant other price risk.

Changes in risk

The Organization's risk exposures did not significantly change from the prior year.

3. Short-term investments

Short-term investments is comprised of a Guaranteed Investment Certificate from a Canadian Chartered Bank with a maturity date of April 18, 2024 at an annual interest rate of 3.65%.

4. Management of capital

The Organization's objectives in managing its capital, which it defines as its net assets, are to maintain a sufficient level to provide for normal operating requirements on an ongoing basis and to continue its mission to enhance the quality and quantity of Canadian programming in the audio-visual system. The Organization strictly monitors its capital in order to ensure it has sufficient revenue before committing to expenses.
